About Us

MLRIT, a premier institution in Hyderabad, stands at the intersection of academic excellence and social responsibility, empowering students to be catalysts for change in today's complex world. With a focus on industry-integrated curriculum, MLRIT equips students with the skills and knowledge necessary to thrive in today's competitive landscape. The institute's state-of-the-art infrastructure, and strong industry partnerships provide a conducive environment for students to learn, grow, and achieve their full potential. MLRIT's emphasis on extracurricular activities and co-curricular development ensures that students not only excel academically but also develop essential life skills.

A space where ideas thrive, debates flourish and minds connect—Club Literati is where it's at! Being MLRIT's very own haven for literary enthusiasts, our club has consistently been at the forefront of organizing dynamic activities that have shaped our students into confident speakers and critical thinkers. We, as a club, ensure that every event we host is not only packed with engaging and thought-provoking content, but also infused with fun and creativity.

Our club's guiding motto, "Communicate, Compete, Conquer", is deeply integrated into every event we organize. We believe in the power of words to shape perspectives, and the importance of dialogue in solving today's most pressing issues, all while building leaders for a better tomorrow.

About MLRIT MUN

MLRIT'MUN is more than just a conference—it is a movement of young voices determined to shape the future. What began as a passionate initiative of Club Literati has now evolved into one of the most awaited Model United Nations in the region, hosting six successful editions and now stepping proudly into its seventh.

Every year, MLRIT'MUN brings together delegates from across India, creating a vibrant platform where diverse perspectives converge, ideas ignite, and change-making discussions take the center stage. It is not only a space to debate global challenges, but also a training ground for leadership, diplomacy, and innovation.

Rooted in our vision "To Lead Change", MLRIT'MUN has become the crown jewel of Club Literati—an arena where diplomacy meets passion, where conversations spark action, and where every delegate learns that their voice carries the power to inspire solutions.

As we embark on the seventh edition, MLRIT'MUN promises to be more engaging, more impactful, and more unforgettable than ever before. We welcome you to be a part of this legacy—where words create change, and students become leaders of tomorrow.

Letter from Secretary General

From the Desk of the Secretary-General
MLRITMUN 2025 | 7th Edition

Dear Delegate,

Take a deep breath.

Because I know exactly where you are right now.

The nervous energy, the constant doubts, the fear of "what if I mess up?" I've been there. In fact, I've lived there.

When I stepped into my first Model UN, I was just a kid in 8th grade, walking into a room full of strangers who spoke like seasoned diplomats, debated like lawyers, and commanded confidence I didn't even know existed. I didn't know the rules, I didn't know the jargon, all I knew was that this was going to be hard. And it was.

I started with the toughest conferences. I stumbled. I froze mid-speech. I walked out of committee rooms wondering if I even belonged there. But here's the thing about walls: when you're backed against one, you don't retreat.

"You break the whole goddamn thing down."

Conference by conference, speech by speech, I grew. I learned how to listen before I spoke, how to fight when I had to, and how to stand my ground when the room thought otherwise. Slowly, I stopped competing to survive and started competing to win. And when I won my first award, I realized something Harvey Specter once said:

"I don't get lucky. I make my own luck."

Letter from Secretary General

I competed against people twice my age, with double my experience, and I still walked away with victories, not because I was the smartest person in the room, but because I refused to quit.

And then came college. MLRIT became my home, and MLRITMUN became my battlefield. I served as the Deputy Secretary-General for the 6th Edition, and that experience changed me. It showed me what it means to lead, to create something bigger than yourself, and to give back to the very stage that raised you.

Today, I stand here as the Secretary-General of the 7th Edition of MLRITMUN. It's surreal. A complete circle. From being the nervous kid clutching his placard in the last row to being the one signing this letter, inviting you to step into this arena.

But this letter isn't about me.
It's about you.

If this is your first conference, you'll feel lost at times. You'll feel outnumbered, outpaced, maybe even outsmarted. But remember this: everyone starts where you are right now. Every award-winning delegate, every Executive Board member, every Secretary-General, we all began as that nervous first-timer with trembling hands and a heart that refused to slow down.

And when that moment comes, when you feel like backing down, when you think your voice doesn't matter, remember this:

"Winners don't make excuses when the other side plays the game."

Letter from Secretary General

Don't just show up. Make yourself impossible to ignore.
Don't just speak. Make them listen.
Don't wait for your chance. Take it.

Because MLRITMUN isn't just a conference. It's an experience, a stage that has shaped leaders, built thinkers, and created friendships that last a lifetime. And now, it's your turn.

So, step into that committee room. Own your seat. Own your voice. Own your journey.

I'll see you on the other side of the gavel.

With conviction,
Khaja Moizuddin
Secretary-General
MLRITMUN 2025 | 7th Edition

Letter from Deputy Secretary General

Leadership isn't always about standing at the front -- sometimes it begins behind the scenes, understanding what it takes to build something that matters. Last year, as part of the Organising Committee for the sixth edition of MLRIT MUN, I have seen how every detail, every plan, every challenge and every moment shapes the experience delegates carry with them long after the closing ceremony.

This year, stepping into the role of Deputy Secretary General, I carry forward that same commitment — not just to structure or execution, but to purpose. MUN, at its best, is a platform that sharpens minds and amplifies voices. It's where global issues meet individual action, and where leadership is born through collaboration, not just competition.

The seventh edition of MLRIT MUN is built to reflect that spirit. It's a space for ideas to take shape, for perspectives to clash and converge, and for every delegate to discover what it means to lead with clarity, conviction, and courage.

Let this be the edition where ideas turn into impact, and voices become solutions. I look forward to seeing each one of you bring your best to the table.

Warm regards,
R. Mahitha Reddy
Deputy Secretary General

The Building Blocks of MUN

What is a Committee?

Committees form the core of MUN, each with its own agenda addressing global challenges. They bring delegates together to debate, forge alliances, and draft resolutions that reflect real-world diplomacy. At MLRIT MUN, committees are not limited to discussion—they transform ideas into action, empowering young leaders to shape impactful solutions.

Who is a Delegate?

A delegate in Model United Nations represents a country or organisation in a simulated UN committee. They speak on behalf of their assigned nation's interests, form alliances and work together to create resolutions addressing international challenges. At MUN, delegates are leaders in action, shaping dialogue and driving change.

What is a Delegation?

A delegation is the united front of a nation at MUN. Delegates step into the shoes of real diplomats—researching, debating, negotiating, and defending their country's stance in committees. While individuals chase honors like Best Delegate, together they compete for the ultimate title: Best Delegation Award. More than competition, it's collaboration—delegates backing each other up to make their country's presence impossible to ignore on the global stage.

AIPPM

All India Political Parties Meet

About

The All India Political Parties Meet (AIPPM) is where the vibrancy of Indian politics truly unfolds. Delegates step into the roles of influential leaders, engaging in sharp debates, building alliances, and navigating fast-paced sessions filled with drama and strategy. Every moment in this committee is intense, every decision carries weight, and every delegate gets to experience the thrill of real political action. Renowned for its dynamic exchanges and unmatched energy, AIPPM stands as one of the most sought-after committees, offering both challenge and an authentic taste of Indian democracy.

UNODC

United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime

About

The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) serves as a leading global authority in addressing some of the most pressing threats to peace, security, and development. Its mandate covers a wide spectrum of issues, including combating drug trafficking, organized crime, corruption, human trafficking, and terrorism. By providing legal assistance, technical expertise, and policy support, UNODC enables countries to strengthen their institutions and build effective criminal justice systems.

UNHRC

United Nations Human Right

Council

About

"Where justice meets humanity."

The United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC) is a global platform committed to the defense and advancement of fundamental human rights. As a principal body within the United Nations system, the UNHRC serves as a voice for the voiceless and a shield for the vulnerable, working tirelessly to expose injustice, combat discrimination, and challenge oppression in all its forms. Guided by the core values of dignity, equality, and justice, the Council monitors human rights conditions worldwide, addresses urgent crises, and holds states accountable for violations.

UNCSW

United Nations Commission on the Status of Women

About

The United Nations Commission on the Status of Women (UNCSW) is a global platform where voices come together to champion equality and dignity for every woman. It works to break barriers of discrimination, open doors to opportunity, and ensure that gender never limits potential. From addressing violence and injustice to creating pathways for leadership and education, UNCSW turns dialogue into decisive action. It is more than a committee—it is a promise of a world where fairness is not a dream, but a reality.

DISEC

Disarmament and International Security Committee

About

DISEC brings together delegates from every corner of the globe to confront today's toughest challenges in security, peace, and disarmament. From nuclear threats and cyber warfare to conflict resolution and arms control, DISEC thrives on innovative thinking and bold debate. Diversity fuels the committee—every delegate's unique perspective helps build creative, inclusive solutions for a safer, more peaceful world. Here, collaboration sparks impactful policies, and young leaders learn to shape the future with diplomacy and vision. DISEC is not just a committee—it's a platform where global change begins.

IP International Press

About

The International Press is the voice of the conference, documenting every crucial moment with precision and depth. It connects committees to the larger audience through reports, interviews, and photography, while analyzing debates and presenting diverse perspectives. By transforming deliberations into narratives that inform and engage, the IP ensures that each article and photograph becomes a record of ideas shaping global discourse. Far beyond observation, it actively influences how diplomacy is perceived, ensuring that no voice goes unheard and no story remains untold. At its core, the International Press stands as the heartbeat of the MUN experience, narrating stories that give meaning to every exchange of words.
